ClearChoice - Independent sound advice you can trust

Which? Best hearing aid provider overview

Following an extensive survey and the views of over 400 Which? members who had purchased hearing aids in the last 3 years, independent retailers came out top with a customer score of 84%. This score was based on customer satisfaction and recommendation which included levels of service and aftercare.

Are we qualified?

Our Audiologists hold advanced degrees from accredited universities and have special training in the identification, assessment and non-medical treatment of hearing disorders. They complete a full time internship, pass a demanding national examination and must be fully licensed. This makes our Audiologists the most qualified to advise you on your hearing.

How long have we been helping people with hearing difficulties?

We have 35 years experience and have fitted over ten thousand digital hearing instruments. An audiologist who has fitted thousands of patients is more likely to recognise and solve problems. Fitting hearing aids correctly is both an art and a science. Our Audiologists will maximise the potential of your hearing instruments by using all of the features of your ideal aid, while the less skilled might fail to activate up to 50% of the hearing aid's capabilities.

How will you determine what is best for my hearing situation?

Our Audiologist will take a detailed history of your hearing problem, your expectations, and lifestyle. In addition a thorough tone and speech testing assessment will be carried out. Measurements for comfortable hearing levels are also tested.

Our comprehensive testing is to improve your hearing sensibility and re-establish normal hearing perception.

Are there any hearing aid manufacturers you recommend?

As Independent Audiologists, we work with all the hearing aid manufacturers from around the world. Every hearing loss is unique and one manufacturer product line may not meet the needs of everyone! As we work with the world's choice, we are in the best position possible to select the correct device that will match your needs.

The amazing video otoscope

Let's show you what's happening inside...

Our state of the art video otoscope system can show inside your ear canal right up to your ear drum, all visible on the colour screen.

See inside your ear like never before, with no discomfort whatsoever!

Video otoscopy allows us to clearly visualise the ear canal and ear drum by projecting an image onto a computer monitor.

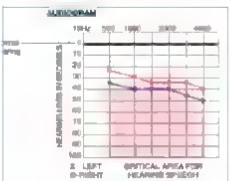
Using video otoscopy, we can see first hand any conditions such as the presence or build up of wax, or debris in the canal that may cause problems with your hearing.

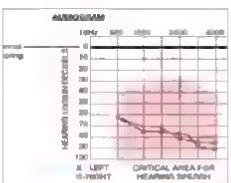
Give your ears a clean bill of health!

Video otoscopy ultimately provides both patients and audiologists with a greater understanding and appreciation of what is happening inside your ear.

Our free Audiometric Test will help us identify your hearing difficulties

If you want to know more about how better hearing can be achieved your local Hearing Aid Audiological experts will give you the best advice FREE. There is never any obligation and all the valuable information is available to you.





FREE AUDIOMETRIC TEST

Following a discussion on the history of your hearing and a brief ear examination our Hearing Aid Audiologist will carry out a free comprehensive hearing test. You are asked to respond to a variety of frequencies which allow the Hearing Aid Audiologist to plot your results on a graph. With the results explained the test is over it's as simple as that!

We often find it is a great help when testing your hearing to have a familiar voice with you. Part of our full hearing assessment is to present speech in what is called a Speech Clarity Test. A family member or close friend is ideal and they are free to help you with the hearing test as well as ask questions which you may not have thought of yourself.

Eddie wows crowd with violin recital

A RECITAL by an Oxfordshire schoolboy with autism was greeted with a standing ovation in London's West End earlier this month.

By Alex Ballinger

Eddie Dancer 13 who attends the LVS Oxford autism special school played violin to a 600 strong audience as part of Autism's Got Talent show on Saturday May 7.

The talent contest, now in its fifth year saw 23 acts compete at the Mermaid Theatre after a rigorous audition process.

Eddie said "The best bit of the day was watching other people perform as they have shown what people with autism can do and have encouraged me to play more. I already want to come back next year as I have proved to myself if I want to do something I can do it and do it well."

Eddie was accompanied by his violin teacher Noriko Tsuzaku and his assistance dog Harmony and played The New Round O.

He has attended LVS Oxford, in Spring Hill Road, Beoley since it opened in 2014 and his mum Bev said he has come on leaps and bounds.

She said "Eddie is a lot calmer now and can achieve so much more at home too.

"At mainstream primary school we were just getting by day to day but now he is so much more receptive as at LVS Oxford he is far more relaxed.

"He made a small mistake today which in the past would have been the end of the performance for Eddie but now he has the confidence and belief to overcome obstacles."

Eddie also enjoyed meeting Strictly Come Dancing star Robin Windsor who said "Eddie was absolutely fantastic tonight. It is so amazing what music and dance can do for people on the autism spectrum - it can really enhance their lives.

All the pupils at LVS Oxford will be given a treat today when Sophie Countess of Wessex, visits the school to mark its official opening.

The school opened its doors to 16 autistic pupils in September 2014 and has since grown to have a roll of 48 young people, aged from 11 to 19.

The Countess, who patron of the National Autistic Society will be given a tour of the school's facilities.

Dogs get chance to shine at Scruffs show

DOG owners showed off their talented pets at an Oxfordshire zoo on Saturday in an annual charity show called Scruffs.

This year the Cotswold Wildlife Park near Burford, raised £500 for charity Dogs for Good, which provides assistance dogs to people with disabilities.

The winner of Best in Show and Best Puppy categories was Chester the Lhesa Apso and his owner Nicola Gately. She said. "I'm a bit shell shocked.

"It's a lovely surprise that Chester won.

"We just came for a lovely day out and it was so nice we could bring Chester with us.

We're thrilled and very proud of Chester."

The wildlife park, in Bradwell Grove, has held the show for six years and is the only large zoo in the country to welcome visitors with their dogs.

Work to help suspects with mental-health issues

Psychiatrist honoured

A PSYCHIATRIST has been celebrated as invaluable by police for his work supporting suspects of crime with mental health problems through the criminal justice system.

David Thurston based at the Warneford Hospital in Oxford was commended by Thames Valley Police to a ceremony at its training centre in Sulham Mead near Reading, on May 4.

By Katriona Ormiston

Dr Thurston spearheaded the launch of Oxfordshire's mental health panel in 2002 now called the criminal justice mental health panel.

It involves experts advising on the best route to justice for suspects of crime with mental health conditions.

Nicola Dubay the police's senior evidential review officer for Oxfordshire said: "Dr Thurston has been invaluable as a contact to the police, his authority and ability to obtain information from his colleagues has allowed cases to progress through the criminal justice system efficiently. His commitment and motivation has led to this very successful venture."

The panel has grown to include key members from partner agencies in Oxfordshire such as Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust, Thames Valley Police, and Oxfordshire County Council.

Awards for 20 years or more service to the force were also given to seven officers and two members of police staff, one volunteer for 10 years' service and one volunteer for five years' service.

Ch Con Habgood said: "I would like to pay tribute to Dr Thurston who has played a key role in criminal justice in relation to mental-health issues and exemplifies effective partnership working between our force and other agencies."

the edge of his raft. A large splash was heard and the bystanders saw he was no longer on the raft. Mr Sheridan was located in the water and was in cardiac arrest."

The coroner said the emergency services treated Mr Sheridan but were unable to save him because he was suffering from hypothermia.

Thames Valley Police homeless liason officer PC Simon Collins identified Mr Sheridan the following day.

Police said they were treating the incident as unexplained, but not suspicious.

Police spokesperson Connie Primmer said: "Police were called at 6.21pm last night after reports of a man falling into the river at Castle Mill Stream.

"He was pulled from the river by emergency services at 10.27pm and treated by ambulance staff. He was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital but sadly died.

"The death is being treated as unexplained but not thought to be suspicious at this time."

Spokesperson for South Central Ambulance Service, Michelle Archer said: "We sent an ambulance crew, rapid response vehicle and a hazardous area response team.

"They were assessing and treating a gentleman in his 60s who was found in a life threatening condition. They were working on him, they were doing their best for him."

The inquest into Mr Sheridan was adjourned until Wednesday August 24.

New transport service to ease burden of bus service cuts

NEW plans for buses in Oxfordshire have been announced after the county council voted to scrap all its 118 subsidised services from July 29.

Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) opted to scrap the money it pays to bus operators to keep some routes running in February in order to save £3.7 million.

The council is in the process of making over £306m in budget cuts by 2020 due to a reduction in funding from central Government.

OCC said it would use a new bookable transport service to reduce the impact of the cuts, as well as using public transport to replace school travel services that were binned.

Council leader Ian Hudspeth said: "We would all prefer not to be making cuts at all but Oxfordshire County Council and bus operators have risen to the challenge and been working closely together to progress measures to minimise the impact on local communities."

The bookable service will be available to a range of users from teenagers to elderly people and hopes to use the down time of some of the council's own minibuses.

Council scales back centre closure plan

By Alex Ballinger

PLANS to close Oxfordshire's 44 children's centres and seven early-intervention hubs have been scrapped with 18 centres being kept open instead, it was announced on Monday.

Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) had planned to close all of the centres and replace them with eight larger children and family centres.

But this week the council revealed plans to pour £2 million into children's services in order to run 18 centres.

Under the new plans an extra £780,000 would be spent to keep two children's centres to support vulnerable children and families – they are the East Oxford Children's Centre in Union Street and the East Street Children's Centre in Banbury. Eight of the children's centres will also provide outreach care and some open access sessions.

OCC cabinet member for children, education and families Melinda Tilley said: "This new money will significantly increase the reach and power of the new model that will come into effect in April 2017.

"We know that people value the current arrangements and we are glad to be able to extend those until next spring.

"However there really remains that financial pressures and rising demand alone – never mind future savings – would mean having to redesign services at this very point in time."

But the Save Oxfordshire's Children's Centres campaign group which has been battling to keep all the centres open, have criticised the new plans.

Campaign spokesman Jo Lovell said: "It is pouring money into badly thought out and unpopular services.

"The council simply doesn't seem to understand that prevention is better than cure.

"This announcement is a travesty. It indicates the council aren't listening to the public service users or their own councillors."

A total of £7m is to be spent on providing 30 staff in the Locality and Community Service of the redesigned model, who will work to identify vulnerable children early on. The final £908,000 will provide more staff in the Family Support Service which helps families who do not qualify for social care.

OCC voted on its budget meeting in February to set aside £2m to help save some children's services. The council is set to vote on the new proposals at a cabinet meeting on Tuesday May 24 at County Hall at 2pm.

All the children's centres will remain open until March 2017.

The children and family centres would be located in Oxford (three), Banbury, Bicester Witney, Abingdon and Didcot.

Outreach bases would be in Banbury (three), Chipping Norton, Oxford (two), Botley and Didcot.

The planned closures form part of wider budget cuts by the council as it is forced to cut £300m by 2020.

Bowling revamp

OXFORD: The bowling alley at the Ozone Leisure Park by the Kassam Stadium is undergoing a £500,000 refurbishment and rebrand.

Work at Bowlplex just off Grenoble Road is set to be finished next Thursday when it will be relaunched as Hollywood Bowl.

The centre will remain open during the renovation.

Garage raided

WITNEY: A treadmill, a mountain bike, gardening tools, a wardrobe and toys were stolen from a garage at a home in Woodford Way, Witney, between Sunday, May 1 and Saturday, May 14.

Anyone with information is asked to call police on 101.

Survey result

OXON: Two thirds of adult social care users in the county are extremely or very satisfied with the service provided, a survey has revealed.

Almost 700 people responded to the Department of Health report with 66 per cent of them giving that verdict.

The figures showed this was a rise from 61 per cent in 2015.

Only 1.3 per cent of people (9) said they were extremely or very dissatisfied, while 10 people were quite dissatisfied.

Dementia risk

OXFORD The risk of developing the second most common type of dementia is higher if you have high blood pressure a new study has revealed.

Researchers analysed the medical records of more than four million people and found those aged 30 to 50 with high blood pressure had a 62 per cent higher risk of vascular dementia – the second most common form after Alzheimer's disease. Of the 4.28 million people 11,114 went on to develop vascular dementia.

Lead author Professor Kazem Rahimi, based in Oxford, said: "Our research has shown that high blood pressure is also associated with a significantly higher risk of vascular dementia."

The study by The George Institute for Global Health was published in the journal Stroke.

£54m plans to dual A40

By Katriona Ormiston

THE A40 between Witney and Eynsham could be turned into a dual carriageway and an extra bus lane built along the remainder of the road into Oxford as part of a £54 million scheme to tackle congestion.

The scheme would also see new cycleways provided along the route.

Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) unveiled plans for the major traffic pinch point on Tuesday ahead of a cabinet meeting next Tuesday.

The measures are on top of £35m plans announced last year for a new park and ride at Eynsham A40 junction improvements and a new eastbound bus lane to Oxford.

OCC leader Ian Hudspeth said: "The work we already have funding for will be the biggest the county council has delivered. We understand the frustrations of drivers on this major route.

"As the local MP Prime Minister David Cameron has stated in the past: 'The A40 is the foot on the windpipe of the West Oxfordshire economy' and so by improving the A40 this will encourage more businesses to relocate in West Oxfordshire offering more jobs."

A report by council officers published last night recommends a dual carriageway from Witney to the planned park-and-ride at Eynsham costing £42m.

A new westbound bus lane is also proposed between Wolvercote and the Eynsham park-and-ride costing £12m.

The report estimates the cost of building an extra lane along the entire stretch at £210m.

An option to reopen the rail line between Witney and Oxford was costed at £265m.

But the report suggested it should not be progressed at this stage partly because it would need to be led and funded mainly by rail operators.

It added: "A key economic concern for pursuing heavy rail any further is the unlikelihood that a commercially viable rail service (for a rail operator) could be delivered based on the estimated low frequency of trains.

"Capacity issues on the rail line through Oxford station would also be likely to place a similar constraint on the level of service that could be provided."

Options touted for a tram (£240m) and guided bus on tracks (£165m) were ruled out because the report said there was little support for the plans.

Almost 800 people responded to a consultation on the plans for the A40 which ran from September until November last year.

Most people backed the proposals for a dual carriageway.

About half also supported plans for a tram and bus lanes – 41 per cent backed the tram option, and the lowest level of support was for the guided bus option at 26 per cent.

The £35m plans for phase one are due to start next year, however a date for when the £54m plans for phase two could start is yet to be set.

The plans are to be debated by councillors at OCC's cabinet meeting next Tuesday, May 24 at County Hall in New Road, Oxford.

New chief is appointed for South and Vale authorities

A new chief executive for South Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse district councils has been named to replace returning David Buckle.

David Hill is currently chief executive of Humber NHS Foundation Trust and previously served as a strategic director at South Oxfordshire District Council.

His appointment was ratified by councillors last Thursday. He will take over when Mr Buckle retires later this year on a date to be set.

Mr Hill said: "I am very grateful to both councils for offering me this role at such an important time for both the Vale and South Oxfordshire.

"There is a huge programme ahead and I am really excited about leading a great team of staff and supporting both sets of councillors."

Praised for saving life

By Jayne Smith

SEVEN people have been commended by Oxfordshire's chief constable for their part in saving a man's life

Four police officers and three members of the public stepped in to help after the man 'inflicted serious injuries on himself' at a property in Bicester Thames Valley Police said

The officers administered life saving first aid helped by the three others during the incident last February

In presenting police commendations Chief Constable Francis Habgood said they all "showed great bravery" and "fully deserved" their awards

The man's family was at the property at the time and were supported by the officers

Police have not released details of what happened or what injuries the man suffered

Two of the officers PC Barry Payne and PC Robert Watson both based at Bicester Police Station and two of the members of public Jansens Alves Lopes of Bicester and Ray Hood, from Bedfordshire, attended a ceremony at the Thames Valley Police Force Training Centre in Sulhamstead, near Reading, to receive their awards

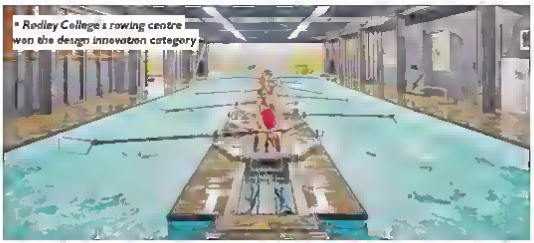
PC Payne said "When something like this happens it is great when everything goes to plan and there is a positive outcome

Seeing this man during the incident at the hospital and now knowing he has made a recovery obviously makes me feel good about what I do"

Speaking after the ceremony last Friday Mr Habgood said "I feel privileged to be the one giving these commendations and each of the recipients should feel very proud"

• PC Barry Payne and PC Robert Watson

Projects hailed in top awards



• Radley College's rowing centre won the design innovation category

TWO Oxfordshire developments have been named regional winners in prestigious building awards

A school's state of the art rowing centre won the design innovation category of the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors (RICS) awards for the south east last Thursday

And an Oxford University renovation project won the building conservation category at the awards ceremony at the Amex Stadium near Brighton

They will join six other south east winners competing against other regional winners at the national finals in London on October 14. Pupils at Radley College near Abingdon, can train all year round in the timber building's rowing tank that mimics river conditions

The scheme at the school in Kennington Road was dubbed 'unique in this country' by a panel of nine judges

A restoration project on an under used Victorian building at Lincoln College in Turl Street was called 'the best of' work on the old to make it for the new. The grade II listed garden building was converted and extended into two spaces for performances and lectures

RICS's UK south regional director Lynne Robinson said "The talent vision and exceptional skills behind them was nothing short of remarkable

"It goes without saying that our judging panel of nine industry experts found deciding upon the eight category winners particularly tough"

Both developments were among 41 projects shortlisted across eight categories at the ceremony hosted by television presenter Amanda Lamb

A refurbishment of a grade I listed kitchen in a medieval building of New College, Oxford, was also highly commended.

Witness recalls shock over woman's shooting

By Alex Ballinger

A FRIEND has recalled the moment Kerry Reeves was fatally shot in the face last November in Abingdon.

The 26-year old died two days after she was blasted with a shotgun behind a block of flats in Thornhill Walk, near Northcourt Road on Tuesday November 3 last year.

Craig Parslow was with Miss Reeves and Craig Pitts at the time of the shooting and he told Oxford Crown Court he was "ashamed to have been there when the attacked happened".

Billy Johnson, of Ripon Court in Corby, Northamptonshire, and Charles Noble of Kempton Avenue in Ealing, London, are both on trial charged over the death of Miss Reeves. They both deny murder.

Miss Reeves was shot shortly after 3pm and died at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital.

While giving evidence last Friday Mr Parslow said: "[Craig Pitts and I] were both really shocked and I still can't to this day believe that happened.

"I can't get over it. It's something we would never think would happen in Abingdon.

"I didn't want to talk about it. I'm ashamed I was even there to be honest."

The court heard how Mr Parslow, Mr Pitts and Miss Reeves had been searching for two men, Johnson and Noble, who they believed had been involved in an attack on Mr Pitts the week before.

The defence for 21 year old Noble, Ali Naseem Bajwa QC said Mr Parslow, Miss Reeves and Mr Pitts visited the house of Curtis Boyce who warned them that Johnson, 20, and known as CJ, had a gun.

Mr Bajwa said: "During that evening before you got to Thornhill Walk and Brampton Close, the three of you, Kerry and Mr Pitts stopped at the house of somebody by the name of Curtis Boyce. You stayed there for some minutes talking to Curtis Boyce.

"You were being told by somebody that CJ had a gun. Curtis Boyce was saying to you, Kerry and Craig Pitts, CJ is back in Abingdon and he has a gun."

But Mr Parslow said he did not remember what was said in the conversation.

Mr Bajwa said Mr Pitts and Miss Reeves had gone to Thornhill Walk and Brampton Close looking for Johnson and Noble on the night of the shooting.

Mr Parslow also said he had seen two masked faces just before the shooting.

Mr Parslow said: "I saw a red mask and a blue mask. That area was lit.

"They were just plastic masks. Red and blue masks."

But Mr Bajwa suggested that Mr Parslow did not see any masked faces because he did not mention this to the police when they arrived.

On Friday the court also heard from Joanna Moodey who had regularly bought her son from Johnson at around the time of the shooting.

Miss Moodey had driven to nearby Brampton Close to buy heroin on the night of the shooting and had seen three people standing in the street.

She said two of the people were wielding a baseball bat and a metal pole.

The case continues.

Mayor is elected

THAME'S new mayor Linda Emery has taken on her new role – switching titles with last year's civic leader.

Cllr Emery was deputy mayor last year while Nichola Dixon was mayor. Now Cllr Dixon will be her deputy for the year.

Ms Emery, who will also be the council chairman has pledged to raise money for two charities: Red Kite Children's Centre and the Thame Youth Project.

She will also host a one off fundraising event for special ist medical equipment for Rycote Practice.

She said: "I consider it a great honour for me to be selected from my peers to be mayor of Thame.

"Thame is a wonderful place to live because it has an amazing community spirit. We are going to go through many changes and challenges in my year as mayor.

"We will all work together to embrace change and adapt to it to the best advantage for our community."

Cllr Dixon's final duty as mayor was to hand over cash to her chosen charities Thame & District Day Centre and the Thame to Thame Nepal Earthquake Fund, a town in Nepal of the same name as the Oxfordshire one which was devastated by the earthquake in 2015.

She raised a total of £5,028 from a range of events including a quiz night and a skydive.

EU battle buses on the road for votes

By Alex Ballinger

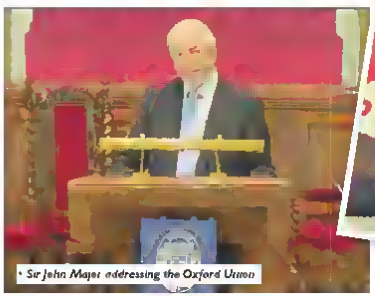
BIG names from the Conservative Party tried to rally the troops in Oxfordshire over the last week as the European Union (EU) referendum inches ever nearer.

Former Prime Minister Sir John Major addressed Oxford University students on Friday, saying that if Britain was to leave the EU it would be a gratuitous act of self-harm.

His comments were followed by a rally with Prime Minister David Cameron in his Witney constituency where he said a vote to leave could cause a new recession.

Speaking at the Oxford Union Sir John told students: "If we were to leave the world would consider us diminished. Departure would be a gratuitous act of self harm.

"[Leaving] is nothing other than reckless imprudent folly and the price for that would be paid by every British family."



• Sir John Major addressing the Oxford Union

• David Cameron in Witney on Saturday

Sir John served as the leader of the Conservative Party and as Prime Minister from 1990 to 1997 taking over from Margaret Thatcher after her resignation.

He was the presiding Prime Minister on Black Wednesday in 1992, when Britain was forced to withdraw from the precursor to the single currency.

Sir John also criticised the leave campaign and accused its leaders of fear mongering.

With just over a month to go before the election on Thursday June 23 campaigners on both sides of the debate have been scouring the country to garner support.

Prominent Vote Leave figure and former Henley MP Boris Johnson hit the road last week in the campaign's battle bus.

He said: "We can see the sunlit meadows beyond. I believe we would be mad not to take this once in a lifetime chance to walk through that door because the truth is it is not we who have changed.

It is the EU that has changed out of all recognition and to keep insisting that the EU is about economics is like saying the Italian Mafia is interested in olive oil and real estate.

It is true but profoundly uninformative about the real aims of that organization."

Speaking to EU supporters in Witney on Saturday Mr Cameron said: "I'm absolutely convinced that our economic security will be better if we stay in a reformed European Union and it will be seriously at risk if we were to leave.

If we vote to leave on the 23rd June we will be voting for higher prices. We will be voting for fewer jobs. We will be voting for lower growth. We will be voting potentially for a recession."

Police apologise to family after death of 16-year-old

Ellis Downes 16

By Alex Ballinger

A PUBLIC apology has been issued by police over the treatment of the family of 16-year-old drowning victim Ellis Downes.

Ellis, of Westfield in Henwell, was swimming with friends in the River Thames near Abingdon on Saturday May 7, when he went missing with his body being later found on Monday by divers.

Thames Valley Police (TVP) has since apologised to the Downes family for the lack of communication and compassion shown.

In a video statement released on Friday morning Assistant Chief Constable Nikki Ross said: "I'm speaking today on behalf of Thames Valley Police in relation to the tragic incident from the weekend, the drowning of Ellis Downes.

"I am profoundly sorry for the treatment of the Downes family over the weekend in particular the level of support, the level of compassion and the lack of information and communication that we afforded them."

Ellis' sister Alex Downes had previously taken to Facebook to criticise the police search effort, saying that not enough resources were deployed to find her brother.

ACP Ross added: "This fell far below the standards we would expect from our staff and I apologise for that. As a mother myself I cannot begin to understand the distress that the family is feeling, but I would expect more care and compassion to be shown to people in these circumstances."

Miss Downes has since welcomed the apology but said she did not want other families to experience similar treatment.

Posting on Facebook, she said: "Glad that the police made the first step by admitting they had done us wrong by referring themselves to the IPCC. This public apology is the least we expected, we know of course, an apology is never going to bring Ellis back, but it's a start."

An inquest into Mr Downes' death opened yesterday (May 18) at Oxfordshire Coroner's Court in New Road, Oxford. Oxfordshire's coroner Darren Salter said Ellis had swum across the river to Abingdon Marina and came into difficulty while swimming back and that his friends had dived into the water to help but were unable to find him. The inquest is set to be concluded on August 2. TVP announced on Wednesday that police watchdog the Independent Police Complaints Commission will carry out an independent investigation into the handling of the incident.

Tree damaged

WALLINGFORD A Warborough resident has been convicted of deliberately damaging an 80-year old tree.

John Bradshaw of The Green South, was fined £1,000 and ordered to pay £3,796.96 costs at Oxford Magistrates' Court for harming the copper beech tree on his property in a conservation area.

South Oxfordshire District Council (SODC) received a notice of intent to remove the tree because of extensive crown die back in August last year.

Its tree officer visited and found most of the leaf canopy was dead, copper nails had been hammered into its base, and evidence of drilling.

Bradshaw declined to be interviewed by SODC and magistrates deemed him responsible for the damage on April 22.

BICESTER Construction work has started on an extension to the Bicester Village retail shopping centre

The designer retail outlet is taking over the former Tesco site after the supermarket relocated to the new Bicester Business Park on the opposite of the A41

The former Tesco filling station has already been knocked down and the empty supermarket will follow to make way for 35 new shops and a car park.

The development is due to open in autumn 2017

CHIPPING NORTON Town councillors on the recreation committee have agreed to fund architects fees for the new Scout Hut project at Greystones.

The Scouts current hut is in a poor state of repair and needs replacing. The council move comes after a long running saga over where to build a new skate park was put on hold.

OAP cash stolen

BERINSFIELD A 79 year old woman had cash stolen from her by two men last Wednesday in Fane Drive at 6.30pm.

The victim had arranged to meet a man who she believed was returning a watch that had been stolen a year ago.

One of the men took the cash from the pensioner and walked with her along Fane Drive to meet the other man before the pair ran off with the money.

The first male was white, 6ft 9in tall, in his 20s of slim build and was clean shaven with dark curly hair. No description is available of the second man.

City named as having 'dangerous' pollution

By Alex Ballinger

OXFORD has been named as one of 11 cities and towns in the UK having dangerous levels of pollution by the World Health Organization (WHO).

Figures published last Thursday showed the city had above guideline levels of PM10 - particulates that can penetrate the deepest part of the lungs.

Oxford City Council's leader Bob Price said pollution was a priority in the city and that the council was working to make the city centre a zero emission zone by 2020.

Dr Flavia Bustreo of WHO said: "Air pollution is a major cause of disease and death.

"It is good news that more cities are stepping up to monitor air quality so when they take actions to improve it they have a benchmark.

"When dirty air blankets our cities the most vulnerable urban populations - the youngest, oldest and poorest - are the most impacted."

A total of 11 UK cities and towns fell outside WHO's guideline figures for PM10 - as well as Oxford they are Glasgow, Scunthorpe, Leeds, Eastbourne, London, Southampton, Port Talbot, Stanford le Hope, Gibraltar and Nottingham.

As air quality falls the risk of health conditions like strokes, heart disease, lung cancer and asthma increases, according to the WHO.

Councillor Price told the Guardian: "We're doing what we can to prioritise [air pollution]."

"We would very much like to move to a zero emission zone with electric buses and electric cars but we have to have a lot of infrastructure."

"It's up to national policy to encourage that."

Oxford is the only city outside London to run a Low Emission Zone (LEZ).

As of January 1 2014, all buses operating in the city centre have had to meet stringent European Union emission rules.

Cllr Price added: "It's possibly also some of the places in the other parts of the city where there is high concentrations of traffic.

"As far as we know the emissions have been dropping over the last seven or eight years."

Police launch appeal for witnesses of Cowley Road stab attack

A POLICE appeal has been launched to find a man who could have witnessed a stabbing in Oxford last Monday.

An 18 year old was taken to hospital in a life threatening condition after being stabbed in the chest in James Street, off Cowley Road, at 2.50pm.

The teenager and a friend had been walking along the road before the victim collapsed near Sainsbury's.

The potential witness from last Thursday's appeal is described as being a tall, white man with dark hair wearing a dark T-shirt and trousers and carrying a rucksack on his left shoulder.

The police would also like to speak to the driver of a white van in James Street which turned into Hurst Street and the driver of a white hatchback in James Street.

Detective Inspector Mike Roddy of Oxford CID said: "These people are not believed to have been involved in the incident, however they may have witnessed the incident."

Four men have been arrested in connection with the stabbing and have all since been released on bail.

Couple rescued after tree falls

FIREFIGHTERS used a chainsaw to rescue an elderly couple after a tree fell across their car in Oxford city centre.

The weeping willow smashed into the vehicle's roof as it drove along Hythe Bridge Street shortly after 3pm last Wednesday.

Its branches engulfed the car but fire and rescue teams from Oxford and Eynsham helped free the man and 65-year-old woman.

Incident commander watch manager Sean Mienie, said: "We were able to quickly and safely rescue the husband and wife who were unscathed but some what shaken."

Watchdog praises Oxfordshire child exploitation teams

By Alex Ballinger

A GOVERNMENT watchdog praised services designed to help exploited children in Oxfordshire but said more needed to be done for other children and families.

Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabularies (HMIC) said in a report that child sexual exploitation services in the county were 'high quality' and their strength lay in their ability to work together to improve performance.

But it went on to say that this was not reflected across the board to children and families referred to child services.

Oxfordshire County Council's deputy director for safeguarding, Hannah Farncombe responded, saying: "We have always said our focus is on protecting our most vulnerable children and importantly the inspection found that we are doing this successfully and that no children were identified at risk of harm."

The report published last Tuesday followed an inspection of abuse and neglect services in Oxfordshire between March 7 and March 12, 2016.

It said: "Oxfordshire now has a highly-developed and well functioning approach to tackling exploitation.

"A significant strength of the key agencies is their ability to learn lessons from joint investigations and to use these to improve performance.

"They now work closely and collaboratively with exploited children and young people to understand their perspectives and to help them keep safe."

The Oxfordshire Guardian reported last week that OCC's cabinet member for children, Melinda Tilley, said that about £20 million and more social workers were needed to improve one of the county's key vulnerable children services.

Oxfordshire's Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub is in the process of being redesigned to cope with increasing demand.

The HMIC report went on to say that more needed to be done to improve the standard of service for non exploited children and young people.

"Not all children and young people receive the same safe and responsive level of service as exploited young people.

"The high quality of practice seen in child sexual exploitation and missing children cases is not always replicated across the services offered to other children and families when they are referred to children's services."

Ms Farncombe said: "We are determined to build on these identified strengths and are working with our partners to ensure that the necessary improvements are also made in particular regarding the 'front door' of children's social care."

The inspection was carried out by HMIC the Ofsted and Care Quality Commission watchdogs and Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Probation.

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well posed puzzle has a unique solution.

High Hopes for Kodaline

GET your tents, backpacks and flags ready as Truck Festival 2016 is fast approaching.

By James Richings

For the first time in its 17 year history the independent music festival which focuses on rock indie and alternative music will take place over three days rather than two.

Being staged at Hill Farm, Steventon, from Friday to Sunday July 15 to 17 it will see hundreds of musicians and bands including Everything Everything, Rat Boy, The Amazons and Catfish and the Bottlemen, entertain music fans from across the country.

Irish band Kodaline will be headlining at this year's festival - and their guitarist Mark Prendergast believes they will leave their mark.

The 27-year old said: "We played in Oxford about three years ago and it's a beautiful part of England so we are looking forward to heading back."

"Headlining festivals is new for us so we've a lot to prove and there are some other cracking bands on the line up so were looking forward to hanging out and having a good time."

Originally known as 21 Demands the group was formed in 2005 consisting of vocalist and multi instrumentalist Steve Garrigan, Vincent May on drums and Conor Linnane on bass and lead guitarist Mark.

But after struggling to make a name for themselves the band broke up in 2011 following Conor's departure but reformed the same year with Jason Boland replacing him.

The band then saw its fortunes change for the better with its debut album 'In a Perfect World' released three years ago peaking at number one in Ireland and number three in the UK.

Singles such as 'Love Like This' and 'High Hopes' dominated radio stations and their follow up album, 'Coming Up for Air' also proved a big hit.

With the group now having thousands of fans across Europe Mark revealed that the taste of success was very sweet.

"It is still weird playing our tunes in front of crowds and getting a reaction. We love it," he said. "It was difficult but we made it work out of love for music.

"I used to work for touring bands so I had a taste of what it was like on the road and to be in studio and that gave me the hunger to carry on."

We Are The Ocean make return visit

IT'S been three years since rock band We Are The Ocean left a lasting impression at Truck Fest 2013.

Rocking out on the Barn Stage, the four friends of Liam Cromby (lead singer), Alfie Scully (lead guitar), Jack Spence (bass) and Tom Whittaker (drums) blasted out tunes from their three studio albums which included tracks off their then latest record, Maybe Today Maybe Tomorrow.

And, since then, the group's fan base and popularity has increased significantly with their hard rock and scream sounds connecting with supporters across Europe.

So it is no surprise that they are excited about their return to Sleeperton's very own music festival on Sunday July 16.

Bassist Jack Spence told the Oxfordshire Guardian: "I remember arriving at an unsuspicious abandoned farm and wondering if we were in the right place.

"But turn a corner and you're thrust into one of the friendliest festival atmospheres in the country.

"So evidently it was enjoyable enough to return!"

By James Richings

Formed in 2007, the band was originally a five piece group with Dan Brown initially being the band's front man.

The musician led the vocals on their two albums 'Cutting Teeth' (2010) and 'Go Now and Live' (2011), which both peaked in the UK album charts.

But his shock departure at the start of 2012 to pursue a career as a band manager on a full time basis left We Are The Ocean in a tough predicament as the group were planning its third album.

But after Liam Cromby stepped forward to take the microphone things have once more been looking good for the group, who have since toured across Europe, Australia and the US.

And with the band's latest record, 'ARK', being released in May last year, Jack believes things will only get better.

"I think we've been very lucky to have an open minded fan base, who appreciate what we do (or try to do) with every album," he said. "A lot of bands want to rest on their laurels, and repeat the same album over and over – we've never wanted to be that band, and a lot of our fans seem to accept that, for which we are forever grateful."

He also added: "We drew inspirations from everywhere we could (for their new album 'ARK')

"We wanted an expansive and grandiose album so drew influences from different genres and ideas, but pertinently a lot of classic rock.

"Lyrically we wanted to diversify as well, moving beyond just the emotional lyrics and exploring story telling and some more casual themes."

The band have performed at a number of different festivals in recent years, which includes a gig at the Reading and Leeds Festival last year.

Comedian's invite to enter a virtual world

By James Richings

A COMPUTER comedian will reveal the dos and don ts of the virtual world when he takes to the stage in Oxford on Saturday May 28

James Vertch who only became an established comic two years ago arrives at the Old Fire Station, George Street with his Dot Con tour which proved a sell-out at last year's Edinburgh Fringe Festival

The show's success put James on the comedy map

And despite aiming to make his audience laugh the funny man believes his crowd will take some mental notes on how dangerous scam emails can be

He said: "I had an idea that we've all wondered what would happen if you replied to a scam email And I also find it interesting how young and how mystifying the Internet is

"People always say 'I don t understand how you find the time to reply to these scammers' but I dash off emails all the time and out of that grew the show Together we ll invest in gold diamonds and hummus to take a terrifying but rewarding leap down the rabbit hole of spam"

Not afraid to show the world how he works James, who is also a blogger released a video last December showing a live audience the conversation he had with a scammer which lasted for roughly two weeks

The video, which includes dry humour quick wit, buckets of sarcasm and clever one liners has been viewed almost seven million times on the technology and entertainment website TED with that number more than likely to increase as James continues to travel around the country

And with 15 more shows under his belt by the time his tour finishes in Salford on June 12 James believes that his future is bright despite being frightened about stand-up comedy

"I've always wanted to be a comedian" he said "I was going through a phase of doing things I was frightened of and stand up was one of them"

"I began in New York which made things both easier and hard

"It was easier because I could get away with an exaggerated version of my English self for laughs and harder because the scene in New York is full of 'bringer' gigs

"'Bringer' gigs, to earn the privilege of doing five minutes of material, is when you bring two to three friends who must each purchase a two drink minimum and you must sell your own tickets outside on the street

"So when I came back to London I sort of had to start again because I didn t know the clubs or the people

The gig at the Old Fire Station starts at 8pm and tickets cost £12

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM
A Midsummer Night's Dream is a classic celebration of love – but what happens when the one you love is not the one you're due to marry? Hermia loves Lysander and Helena loves Demetrius – but Demetrius is committed to marrying Hermia. When the establishment tries to intervene, the lovers take refuge in the woods, and wander into the midst of a dispute between the King and Queen of the fairies. This dreamlike tale is ageless, the romance and humour enjoyed by all. It is Shakespeare at his finest, with dazzling dramatic poetry at the service of the teasing, glittering, hilarious and amazingly inventive play.

Alfa's new Giulietta proves seductive drive

THERE is much to like about the Alfa Romeo Giulietta – for instance it is such a pretty car and will make some of us wander why we went out and bought that Vauxhall mistead.

Not many of you will know this but I used to own an Alfa Romeo Alfasud.

Yes it was terrible and made by people who did not seem to care but things have changed at Alfa and the end result is the Giulietta that looks and drives fantastically.

Power and Efficiency

My test car was fitted with a 1.4 TB MultiAir engine with150bhp. Top speed is about 130mph and 0-62 is up in about 8.2 seconds. Of course, it is not the fastest model in the range – that would be the 240hp version and that will easily break 150mph.

Fuel economy for the 1.4 is about 49.6mpg (combined) with CO2 emissions of 127 g/km. I like this range of engines– they are refined and sip fuel.

On the road

This is an Alfa – it was meant to ride well and the Giulietta feels very good on all road surfaces. However I do think the suspension is a little hard sometimes but that is dependent on the car setting you decide to choose. There are no dramas into the corners either and you can feel the Alfa DNA in buckeloads.

By Anthony Yates

Design and Interior:

Look around inside the Giulietta and you can see the setting has been well thought out with the driver in mind. I like the way the centre console swoops down around you, giving you easy access to all the controls you will need. The interior is made of a decent quality material that should wear well for many years. The seats are well supported and leg room is good for all occupants.

Technology:

The 'Sprint' model is well kitted out with additions such as Alfa DNA (Vehicles Driving Mode Selector) DAB radio, LED daytime running light, ABS + ASR + EBD as standard, Uconnect 5" colour touchscreen, tyre pressure monitoring system, front and rear electric windows and a rear spoiler.

Safety is good with six air bags plus Isofix attachments for child seat protection. Euro NCAP awarded the Giulietta five stars with an adult occupant rating of 97 per cent and a child occupant rating of 85 per cent.

• To sum up: The Giulietta is a great car to drive – it feels well built and has that all important Alfa DNA installed at its heart.

Price (from) £24 571 OTR.

Williams satisfied with fifth and eighth in Spain

By Adam Flinn

WILLIAMS Martini Racing made it five double-points finishes out of five as Valtteri Bottas and Felipe Massa came home in fifth and eighth places in Sunday's Spanish Grand Prix.

In a fairly quiet race for the Grove-based squad, Williams picked up 14 points from their weekend s exploits to cement their fourth placed standing in the constructors' championship

Bottas started seventh but like the rest of the field, benefitted from the two front-running Mercedes of Nico Rosberg and Lewis Hamilton taking each other out on the first lap to jump up a place.

He soon dispatched the Toro Rosso of Carlos Sainz to get into fifth place remaining there after his first pit stop for the rest of the race

"I think we got the maximum and I m pleased to get decent points" said Bottas

"We know our car wasn t quick enough this weekend, but we had a good result, so that's positive

"Of course, we would like to battle for the podiums and wins but it wasn t possible this weekend and we need to keep pushing on the development

Massa had a more strenuous afternoon on Sunday as he battled his way up from 18th on the grid to earn four points for his eighth place

A shock elimination in the first stage of qualifying on Saturday had left Massa well down the grid and he dropped another place on the first lap to the Manor of Pascal Wehrlein

However, he quickly made his way through the tail-enders and made good use of a three-stop strategy to surge up the order into eighth

He said "It was definitely a very good race for us with some good points finishing eighth from starting 18th.

"It was a difficult race, and not on our best track to finish in the points so I m happy

At the front Red Bull s Max Verstappen became the youngest winner in Formula One history fending off a challenge from Ferrari s Kimi Raikkonen for the second half of the race

Massa is seventh in the standings with 36 points after five rounds while Bottas currently sits eighth on 29

Williams are fourth in the constructors with 65 29 adrift of third placed Red Bull but 39 clear of Toro Rosso in fifth

The next race in F1 calendar takes place on the streets of Monaco on May 29

Oxon out after Unicorn Trophy defeat

OXFORDSHIRE lost their third match in a row on Saturday to end their hopes of progressing to the next stage of the Unicorns Trophy

Oxon lost by four wickets to Dorset to rule out a repeat of their trip to the final of the competition two seasons ago.

Successive defeats to Devon and Berkshire left Oxfordshire needing a big win to stand any chance whatsoever of making it out of the group stages

And they made a promising start after electing to bat first as opener Hugo Darby put on 36 from 44 balls

But aside from an impressive 61 by Jonathan Cater and knocks of 20 and 21 from John West and captain Luke Ryan further down the order they struggled after that limping to a score of 188 all out

Dorset s batsman were much more consistent after taking the crease as Ryan Scott (49) Max Waller (46) and Luke Webb (33 not out) made Oxon s bowlers pay in reply

Chad Keegan (2-26) top scored with the ball for Oxfordshire but was unable to slow the score down as Dorset finished on 189-6 with five overs remaining

Oxon will finish off their trophy schedule on Sunday when they face Cornwall

Smith aiming for better result in Italy

BRADLEY Smith will be hoping for a return to form when he takes on the twists and turns of Italy s Mugello circuit for round six of the MotoGP championship on Sunday

The Oxford rider recorded his first retirement in almost two years at the last race in France after falling off with eight laps remaining

Smith s form has been patchy so far this season having picked up just 20 points from the opening five rounds to sit 14th in the championship standings

But he is optimistic of getting back on track at his favourite circuit this weekend

He said "The track itself is truly breathtaking and I have ran well there in the past

"It would be great to put another solid result on the scoresheet on Sunday and get back to where I should be

Of course the top speed factor will be vital at Mugello due to the main straight and we expect big competition from the Ducati bikes who test there a lot.

"For sure it was disappointing to fall at the Le Mans race but I am fully confident of rectifying this in Italy and I can't wait to get going"

Bradley Smith is hoping for better luck in Italy this Sunday (picture courtesy of Tech3)

GP2 ace Lynn makes winning start to year

By Adam Flinn

OXFORD-BASED racing driver Alex Lynn started off his 2016 GP2 campaign in style by winning the sprint race in Spain on Sunday.

The DAMS racer started the race in third but was quickly up to second after managing to sneak his way past fellow countryman Jordan King at turn two.

Lynn then set off in pursuit of race leader Rafaelle Marciello needing just two laps to get past and start establishing a lead.

A late safety car brought Pierre Gasly into contention for the win but Lynn was able to hold on to the lead at the restart to complete the victory.

It comes after Lynn finished sixth in the feature race on Saturday despite starting third on the grid.

He made a slow start and was passed by Sergey Sirotkin and team mate Nicholas Latifi although he got back in front of Latifi further round the opening lap.

Lynn made an early pit stop, but a late safety car hindered his strategy and he had to settle for sixth in the final result.

"You can never complain when you start a racing season with a win," said Lynn.

"It wasn't the dream final feature race of the season I'd planned in my head for a few months but we got some points on the board.

"Pierre got up to second (in the sprint race) and the last 20 laps was a case of playing cat and mouse between us, but I knew I had the tyres left if I needed them.

"So I'm happy to get off the line with a strong weekend, and it's a good way to start the season."

Lynn also completed 86 laps for Williams Martini Racing in his role of development driver for the Formula One outfit on Tuesday again at the Barcelona track.

His best lap of 1.26.071 put him ninth in the final standings with the focus on aero testing ahead of the upcoming Monaco Grand Prix.

Lynn added: "We ran through everything, and probably more than we ever anticipated on the programme.

"We did some good work on the medium tyre, and in the afternoon it was more Monaco-based performance work."

U's relegation is confirmed by FA

ABINGDON United's relegation from the Hellenic Premier League has officially been confirmed.

The U's finished in 19th place after a terrible season last time around but had hoped to be given a stay of execution should another club lose their place for financial reasons.

But the Football Association last week confirmed Abingdon's fate after issuing the draft list of clubs that are expected to form the Hellenic League Division One next term.

The league is split into two separate leagues although it has not yet been decided whether Steve Almon's side will play in Division One East or West.

A final decision on this is expected some time in the next few weeks although it is more likely that Abingdon will be placed in the East league along with fellow Oxfordshire sides Didcot Town Reserves, Headington Amateurs and Wantage Town Reserves.

The drop will see the U's drop to their lowest position since 1991 and follows a three-year plan outlined by the club last summer to get back into the Southern League.

But a dismal Hellenic Premier League season that saw them lose 29 times and win just six matches all season has quickly extinguished those ambitions for the time being.

Oxford left feeling the blues again

• Oxford players in action

OXFORD Rugby League's miserable start to the season continued on Sunday as they were beaten at home.

Kingalone Press League 1 leaders Rochdale Hornets emerged 52-24 winners at Tilsley Park.

Nobody expected much from Oxford going into the line following seven defeats from seven so far this season.

But the Blues battled well for nearly 70 minutes to make things tough for Rochdale before the more-experienced visitors made the most of an Oxford man in the sin bin to take control of the match.

Rochdale took the lead early on as Chris Riley touched down, but Oxford immediately levelled on 12 minutes after Josh Nalbandian's quick feet allowed him to go over.

And the Blues actually took the lead soon after with Harvey Burnell scoring the try and Nathan Kitson kicking over the conversion.

A try from Ben Moores gave the visitors an 18-12 half time lead, but mistakes from Oxford then allowed Samir Tahraoui and Jono Smith to score to extend the lead.

Some great play by Tom Holmes then allowed Casey Canlerbury to tap down to move Oxford to within six points again.

But the game unravelled on the 69 minute mark as Nathaniel was sin binned for an illegal tackle to hand Rochdale the win.

Oxford are next in action on Sunday at Doncaster in search of their first win of 2016.

Ex-City president jailed for fraud

THE former president of Oxford City FC has been jailed for more than 12 years for his part in a $6.6 million telemarketing scam.

Thomas Guerriero was sentenced to 12 years and seven months at a court in Florida last Friday, local news outlet the Sun Sentinel reported.

Florida native Guerriero took charge of City in 2013 before stepping down last December citing poor health.

The Sun Sentinel reported that the fraud ran from 2013 to 2015 affecting around 150 victims.

He pleaded guilty to the charges in February along with seven associates, who will be sentenced in the coming weeks.

His resignation from City came just two days before the US Department of Justice announced that he would face fraud charges.

Watford visit

FOOTBALL Oxford United Women host Watford Ladies at the Northcourt in Abingdon on Sunday in their latest Women's Super League 2 (WSL2) fixture.

The U's have won their last two games with 1-0 wins at home to Sheffield FC Ladies and Millwall Lionesses on May 1 and 8 respectively.

Oxford are eighth in the WSL2 standings with three points while opponents Watford are bottom with one.

Sunday's match kicks off at 2pm.

First friendlies

FOOTBALL Oxford United will play Solihull Moors on July 9 in their first pre-season game to be announced.

Solihull won the Vanarama National League North this season and will play host to the U's for the friendly tie at the Autotech Stadium.

Following the game United will fly out to Spain for a pre-season training camp.

Elsewhere Didcot Town have scheduled five pre season matches so far for July.

They host Oxford City, Chippenham Town, Hungerford Town and Binfield on July 12, 19, 23 and 26 before travelling to Milton United on July 30.

Gold medallist could miss out on Olympics

KATHERINE Grainger's hopes of defending her rowing gold medal at this summer's Olympics could be in the balance.

The decision has been taken to disband the double of the Oxford Brookes University chancellor and Vicky Thornley.

Grainger was one of the stars of London 2012 as she claimed gold in the double scull after taking silver at each of the three previous games.

The 40 year-old retired after finally achieving her goal, but decided to reverse her decision two years ago to take part in her fifth straight Olympics in Rio de Janeiro.

After a disappointing result at the European Championships in Germany earlier this month however the partnership has been disbanded meaning that Grainger will have to compete for a place in the women's VIII.

But after not being selected in the World Cup regatta later this month and with only the last World Cup in Poland left for her to prove herself Grainger has admitted that her place is now "in the balance".

Speaking to The Sunday Times she said "I've never been in this position before not having a seat in a boat so close to an Olympics.

"But I don't want to walk away from it now."

Joy over call into Republic first side

Callum O Dowda has been called up to the Republic of Ireland senior squad after an impressive season with the U s (picture by Steve Daniels)

OXFORD United s Callum O Dowda has been handed a first international call-up to the Republic of Ireland's senior squad

The 21 year-old winger played a starring role last season as the U s claimed promotion to League One on the final day at home to Wycombe Wanderers

O'Dowda scored that day to move to 10 goals in a memorable campaign that also saw him find the net at Wembley in the John stone's Paint Trophy Final loss to Barnsley

And his performances have caught the eye of Republic of Ireland manager Martin O Neill who has called up the young player into his provisional squad for the Republic s match against the Netherlands on May 27 at the Aviva Stadium in Dublin

Kidlington born O'Dowda has represented the Republic s

under-21s side nine times since first being selected last March and he labelled the step up to senior side as being a "massive honour"

He said. "It has been an unbelievable season for the club and on a personal level this caps a fantastic year

"I have enjoyed being part of the under 21 squad and it is a massive honour to be called into the provisional senior squad."

Next week's match represents the final chance for players to impress O Neill before he selects his final squad for Euro 2016 championships which start in France next month

He said. "Everything now is about preparing for Euro 2016 and that is why we wanted to play a team of the calibre of the Netherlands as we aim to make the most of our time ahead of the departure for France

"This game at the Aviva Stadium is very important in terms of building our match sharpness and getting into tournament mode."

Oxford Utd goalkeeper Max Crocombe will also be looking to claim his first international cap for New Zealand after being named in the All Whites squad for the Oceanic Football Confederation s (OFC) Nations Cup

The 22 year-old stopper impressed on loan at National League side Southport last season and is due to be given game time at the tournament being held in Papua New Guinea

Port Moresby will host the tournament from May 28 to June 11. with the winners qualifying for the FIFA Confederations Cup in Russia next year

We are delighted to be of service to local residents

"My wife kept telling me to have my hearing checked so we went together to my local Exhibition. I returned home with a full understanding of my hearing problem and I've not stopped wearing my hearing aids since."

"The aids which I had fitted at the ClearChoice Exhibition are so small and neat that nobody has even noticed that I'm wearing them. The best thing is that I am hearing much clearer even in company."

"I have been taking my dad to ClearChoice for several years for his aftercare service and he loves them!
The Audiologists make him feel comfortable and he always hears much clearer after his visit."
